

It's a celebration! A pop-up celebration to be exact. Coterie member R. Kristi Modern Hospitality is giving the gift of weddings through her event concept, Blissful Grandeur's pop-up wedding celebration. According to recent studies, the national average for the cost of a wedding is about $29K with prime locations such as NYC, Miami, DC, and LA costing more than $50K. With the help of sponsors and some of our talented Coterie members, Blissful Grandeur is offering average couples the opportunity to have a wedding estimated at $90k for less than $5,000. The event will take place in December at an undisclosed location in New York, NY. Vow-renewals as well as first time wedding celebrations will be offered to a maximum of ten couples from the tri-state area. Guests will include friends, family members, and supporting media outlets and sponsors. Though the event boasts grandeur, it will be kept as intimate as possible by disallowing the general public to participate. The celebration will also be streamed live for friends and family members unable to attend.

The pop-up wedding experience includes the engagement party, ceremony, reception, celebrity photography and cinematography, catering, open bar, entertainment, luxury transportation, cake, makeup, hair, hotel stay, celebrity wardrobe stylist, fitness trainer, invitations, photo shoots etc. "The goal is for couples to bask in the beauty of their union, while avoiding both debt and the stress of planning the ceremony," Racquel shares. Couples will have no idea how their day will look and will not be called on to help finalizing details for the pop-up celebration. This unique event requires our brides and grooms to relinquish all control and prepare to have a stunning and memorable day. Couples will walk down the aisle and share their vows separately. But the over-the-top reception will be an all-inclusive experience for participants. Coterie members, Vainglorious Brides, R. Kristi Modern Hospitality, and Sweet Dreams Mini Donuts are set to participate in the extraordinary event.

Say "I do" to this once in a lifetime celebration. Registration is now open for all couples!
